The Port of Teignmouth:

AT THE HEART OF THE LOCAL ECONOMY

Serving the South West of England, the Port of Teignmouth is a key hub for the construction, agriculture and ball clay markets. Backed by continuous investment, this growing port is well-positioned to build on the 460,000 tonnes of cargo it handles each year.

The port also handles a wide variety of other dry bulks including grain, agribulks, stone chippings, and salt as well as project cargo.

Together with its customers, ABP's ports of Teignmouth and Plymouth contribute around £80 million to the South West economy every year, supporting almost 1,200 jobs.

The Port of Teignmouth:

AT THE HEART OF THE LOCAL COMMUNITY

From supporting local cultural events and charities...

ABP colleagues at the Port of Teignmouth take part in a charity Tug of War event to raise funds for the global charity Oxfam.

ABP proudly sponsors the Teignmouth Carnival for the first time in 2018, providing hours of entertainment in the sun for the local community and tourists alike. One of the Carnival highlights, the 'Music Extravaganza' funded by ABP sees over 1,000 people attend.

...to working with community groups and schools

Members of the Lustleigh Society, a local community group, enjoy an exclusive tour of the Port of Teignmouth to find out more about its history and operations.

The Port of Teignmouth welcomes pupils from a number of local schools, including Shaldon Primary School, for a chance to learn more about maritime sector and careers within it.

ABP's Port of Teignmouth is part of the cultural fabric of the South West of England and its heritage.
